Christ's work on earth
was, simply put, amazing.
Yes, he miraculously healed physical afflictions
but more so, he brought about spiritual miracles.

He showed first-hand how God's love is for everyone

He did all things well".

He lived well, died well and loves us well. Christ did all things well for us.
For our salvation. There is no greater love.

Saints of the week

St. Dengus MacNissi September 4th Took his name from his mother Ness. It is claimed that Patrick baptised him and taught him the psalms. He chose the district of Connor for his hermitage, but later became bishop of his clan. He died early in the sixth century

The Birthday of the Blessed Virgin Mary September 8th

St Peter Claver 9th September.

Went to South America ordained in 1615 and preached to the Slaves and worked with. The slave trade thrived in South America despite condemnation for Pope Paul III and Pius IV. Peter died from a disease that he caught while doing his pastoral work. He was Canonized by Pope Leo XIII 1888

Wisdom is acknowledging life as it is, neither living in the past nor wishing our time away for some different future.

An old joke: I asked my 90-year-old father, 'Dad, what were your good old days?' His thoughtful reply: 'When I wasn't good, and I wasn't old!'

Being 'elderly' seems to be becoming harder. Families are busier and more dispersed. Retirement lifestyle developments are focusing less on the resident and more on profit Coronavirus, for many, has been the icing on the cake.

Growing old is a taxing pastime in the modern day.

Retirement was meant to be stress free and relaxing.

Fortunately, the elderly have a lifetime of experience and are well equipped to respond to the challenges present in a considered and purposeful way. Wisdom is a skill that takes a lifetime to perfect and it seems most people 'gain' wisdom in old age.

Although becoming elderly has more and more challenges as society moves forward, the gaining of wisdom and the acceptance of life is universal, and unchanging. With wisdom comes the realisation that the 'good old days' were no different from the current. What has changed is the ability to accept life as it is – good and bad. With wisdom comes an understanding that we were born to live and there is no time like the present to enter into the wholeness of living for this moment.

Wisdom starts here
